A LITTLE BIT ABOUT ME

I've lived in 2 pretty international touristic places such as Tilcara and Ushuaia, both in north and south extremes of Argentina so I've always had contact with foreign people, I grew around many cultures and that formed me to be the kind and polite person I'm today. Even though friends and family consider me a nice person I never thought I could actually tutor people because I thought you just had to have that skill but turns out I learnt how to explain myself and teach, plus the feedback I get really motivates me to keep going.

Where I work I experience changes all the time and I adapt really fast, I manage to keep organised and able to work and study at the same time.

I think I would be a nice incorporation to a team, perhaps I don't have much experience but I'm willing to learn and I'd love to gain experience.
